About TRITOLO GmbH

TRITOLO GmbH, based in the city of Cloppenburg, is a software development company founded in early 2021. In an ever-evolving world of building materials, TRITOLO has revolutionized the identification of building materials in tenders.

To achieve this, TRITOLO developed the world's first tool for determining the equivalence of building materials. The software quickly identifies building materials in construction projects with over 300,000 product features, massively accelerating traditional sales processes.

With its strong growth and outstanding reputation, TRITOLO is on its way to establishing a new industry standard. The list of prestigious clients speaks for itself and highlights the company's compelling track record.

"Motivate to innovate!" - this is TRITOLO's guiding vision, embodied by CEO Sergej Strauch, who brings over 10 years of expertise in technical sales within the building material industry.
